Dear friends,

Every new fiscal year, we all take a moment to reflect on the mission of Catholic Charities and the work of our agency. As volunteers, the Board of Directors, partners, funders, staff, and leaders, we know one thing is certain. We must all work together to provide for the needs of our community selflessly under the sign of love.

This past fiscal year, our agency experienced much growth and change providing care from pregnancy to natural death through 48 programs regardless of race, religion, or national origin. Our mission remains clear and steady to provide basic needs, strengthen the vulnerable, nurture families, and promote self-sufficiency. It does not matter why someone is in our care. At the end of the day, I want to know “how can we help you?”

I am most pleased with the Grand Opening of two new sites this past year, Grace Counseling and the Del Rio Regional Office. God always seems to know what we need before we do. Grace Counseling found itself at the forefront of worldwide news as our therapists were dispatched to Uvalde following the tragic school shooting. Within 24 hours, our staff was providing healing to a family of five who were grieving the loss of their niece and cousin and found themselves fearful and traumatized. The Del Rio Regional Office was planned for quite some time, but little did we know then that this office with a Food Pantry, Caritas Legal Services, Grace Counseling, Parenting Education, and case management would strengthen the community and provide respite for those passing through. More than once this year, the government asked Catholic Charities to provide humanitarian aid whether it be with Afghan asylees, migrants, or families needing care and support. Though our staff and volunteers may be asked to intervene through challenging times with compassionate care, our mission will continue to guide us to care for our neighbors.

Thank you to our friends who support our mission. If you are new to our mission, ask me for a tour. I would love to spend time with you and share with you how our agency provides love, respect, and dignity to our community.

"During sessions with Supporting Dads I was able to say how much I love my family and process my struggles. The sessions and being surrounded by other dads allowed me to connect with people who deal with similar situations."
